

ENGLISH CONVERSATION

Success Darpan

WHAT THIS EBOOK CAN DO FOR YOU?

This ebook covers 40 English to English Conversations which happens in our day to day life. They are very useful in Spoken English.

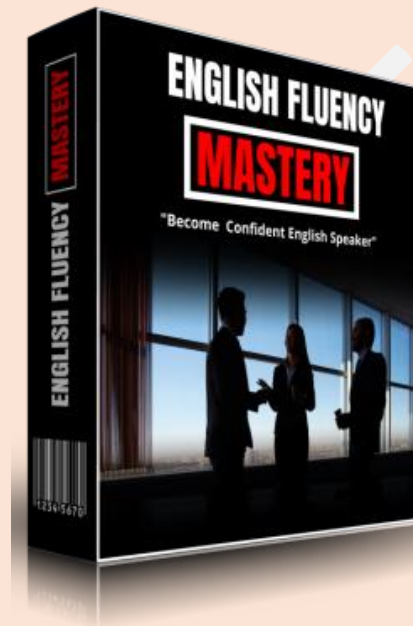

You can use this to Practice with your friends, family or relatives and improve day to day.

This is our small effort to help you in your dream of speaking fluent English. The ebooks and spoken English course offered by us will definitely help you speak better English.

A million wishes,

Success Darpan

[Visit Our \[90 Days Spoken English Course\]](#)

Visit Us

English Conversations

CONVERSATION- 1

A Dialogue between Two Friends about Preparation for the Examination

Myself : Hello friend, How do you do?

Friend : I am fine, thank you. Why are you looking so sad?

Myself : Actually I am worried about my final examination. What about your preparation for the examination?

Friend : Well, I'm going on well with my studies. I am also worried about my exam.

Myself : But tell me about your preparation in different subjects.

Friend : You know I'm weak in English. That's why, I'm taking special care of English. I'm also doing detailed revision for other subjects.

Myself : Are you taking help from any special books?

Friend : Yes but I study text books very carefully.

Myself : I see. I must start working with the text books. What do you think?

Friend : Yes. I think it'll be very helpful not only for English but also for other subjects.

Myself : Thank you for your supportive suggestion. I wish you good luck.

Friend : You are most welcome.

CONVERSATION- 2

A dialogue between two friends on the choice of career

Sujon : Hello Jamia, how are you ?

Jamia : Fine, thank you. And how about you?

Sujon : I'm also fine, Jamia. We are in an intermediate class. So, we must choose our career now.

Jamia : You are quite right. Success in life depends on the right choices of career.

Sujon : We must choose our career properly. May I know your choice of career?

Jamia : Yes, of course. I have decided to become a doctor. Do you like this profession?

Sujon : Yes I do. It is a good profession. Could you tell me why you have chosen this profession?

Jamia : Most of our people are deprived of the service of the doctors.

Sujon : Yes there are shortage of good doctors in our country. The people who live in the villages cannot consult a good doctor.

Jamia : I want to serve the people.

Sujon : Are you willing to go to the villages if necessary?

Jamia : Yes, of course. Through this profession I will be able to earn money honestly. Well, could you tell me about your choice of career?

Sujon : Of course. I want to be an agriculture officer.

Jamia : Most students like to be doctor, Engineer or administrator. Why not you?

Sujon : Our country is an agricultural country. Our economy depends on agriculture.

Jamia : Yes, it is right. Please tell me about your plan.

Sujon : I will get myself admitted into an Agricultural University. After completing my education, I will join the service of agriculture cadre. I will make research on agriculture.

Jamia : It's a noble profession too.

Sujon : I'll teach the farmers about the modern method of cultivation.

Jamia : I appreciate your plan.

Sujon : Choosing career is not enough. We must work hard to fulfil our plan.

Jamia : Of course. We must do well in the H.S.C Examination, otherwise we will not be able to become a doctor or an agriculture officer.

Sujon : Of course .Thank you Jamia. It was really nice speaking to you.

Jamia : You're welcome. Good bye. See you again.

Sujon : Bye.

CONVERSATION- 3

Dialogue Between Two Friends Who Met After Long Time

Neha: Hello, Akhi! How are you?

Akhi: I am fine. What about you?

Neha: I am also fine. I am happy that we have finally met together after all these years.

Akhi: Yes, a long time have passed. Why are you in this railway station?

Neha: I am going to Sylhet.

Akhi: Sylhet! I knew that your house is in Comilla.

Neha: You are absolutely right. I am now working as a doctor in a hospital there. What's the matter about you?

Akhi: I am going to Delhi.

Neha: Five years ago, I heard from Shimu that you and your family lived in Patna.

Akhi: You are correct. Recently, I have been transferred from Patna to Delhi.

Neha: Oh, I see. Are you still working as a college lecturer?

Akhi: Yes, I am now working at Delhi City College.

Neha: Have you got married?

Akhi: Yes, I have got married two years ago. But what about your marriage?

Neha: Yes, I have also got married four years ago. My husband is an engineer working in IT Company. My train has come. I must be off now. Thank you.

Akhi: You are most welcome. See you again.

CONVERSATION- 4

Dialogue Between Two Friends on Spending Summer Vacation

Hasem: Hello Sweety! How are you?

Sweety: I am fine. What's up to you?

Hasem: I am also fine by the grace of God. What are you thinking now?

Sweety: I am recollecting the memories about how I enjoyed the summer vacation.

Hasem: Would you please describe it?

Sweety: Yes, why not? I went to my village home at Halder Ganj. My heart leapt with joy when I met some known faces waiting for me.

Hasem: Were they very happy to find you among them?

Sweety: Certainly! They were very happy to find me among them. They welcomed me heartily. I was also pleased with their rustic simplicity.

Hasem: What did you do there?

Sweety: During my long stay there, I did a lot of things which gave me much pleasure and joy. The most interesting thing is that the village was free from urban noise.

Hasem: Didn't you go to the river?

Sweety: Certainly! One day my cousin along with his friends set a programme of boat riding in the river of Sharesha. We enjoyed the boat riding greatly.

Hasem: I see you enjoyed much. Did you make friendship with them?

Sweety: Yes. I made friendship with some of my cousin's friends. I visited their homes off and on and enjoyed their hospitality.

Hasem: Oh, what a splendid summer vacation it was! Had I been with you!

Sweety: I also visited a village fair in the neighbouring village. That was a very crowded but enjoyable fair too. It would really be nice if you were with me.

Hasem: Really, I can feel the thrill. Thanks for your nice description.

Sweety: Most welcome to you.

CONVERSATION- 5

A dialogue between two friends about reading newspaper

Sanjay : Hello Sharmin! How are you?

Sharmin : Thank you. I am fine. How are you?

Sanjay : I am also fine. Thank you. Where are you going?

Sharmin : I am going to buy a newspaper.

Sanjay : Do you read newspaper regularly?

Sharmin : Of course. Don't you?

Sanjay : Certainly. You know newspaper is called the store house of knowledge.

Sharmin : You are right. Without reading newspaper we can't know about the world.

Sanjay : They who don't read newspaper remain frogs of the well.
Because they don't know the current affairs of the country and world.

Sharmin : At the same time newspapers contains articles related to our study. They are very helpful.

Sanjay : Which section of newspaper do you like most?

Sharmin : Certainly the study page. And you?

Sanjay : I like the general knowledge section and literary articles.
Sometimes I send my writings to the newspaper.

Sharmin : That's very good. Newspaper uphold people's view, too. I have to go now.

Sanjay : Ok. See you later. Bye.

Sharmin : Bye.

CONVERSATION- 6

A dialogue between a shopkeeper and a customer.

Shopkeeper: Welcome to our shopping mall, sir.

Customer: Thank you.

Shopkeeper: How can I help you, sir?

Customer: I want a good watch for a gift.

Shopkeeper: Ladies or gents? What type do you want?

Customer: A lady's watch, please. Do you have any?

Shopkeeper: Please have a look at this showcase. You can see all kinds of lady's watches.

Customer: Thank you. Please show me the fourth one.

Shopkeeper: Of course, here it is. It is one of the best quality watches, sir.

Customer: Do you have any warranty for this watch?

Shopkeeper: Yes, sir. We give three years warranty on this product.

Customer: What's the price?

Shopkeeper: Eight hundred and eighty rupees only.

Customer: That's too much.

Shopkeeper: Not at all. It's a genuine Swiss watch.

Customer: But I want a cheaper one. Don't you have one?

Shopkeeper: Why not? Look at this side. These are Japanese.

Customer: How much is the third one?

Shopkeeper: All these in this row have the same price and it is four hundred rupees each.

Customer: But aren't Japanese watches generally notorious for poor quality?

Shopkeeper: Don't worry. These have originally come from Japan.

Customer: All right, pack this one.

Shopkeeper: Okay sir, Thank you.

SUCCESS DARPPAN

CONVERSATION- 7

A Dialogue Between Two Friends About Tree Plantation

Salman: Hello Hasib. How are you?

Hasib: Fine and what about you?

Salman: I am also fine. Where did you go yesterday? I looked for you.

Hasib: I went to the Tree Fair to buy some saplings. Tree Fair has been going on for last five days. It will continue for more two days.

Salman: Who has organized this Tree Fair?

Hasib: The Department of Agriculture and Forestry organizes this Tree Fair every year in all towns and cities on the occasion of Tree Plantation Week.

Salman: Why do they organise this Tree Fair?

Hasib: It appears strange to me that you are not yet fully aware of the importance of tree plantation.

Salman: Right you are. Please tell me about the importance of tree plantation. I want to know about it in detail.

Hasib: Trees are our best friends. Trees give us shade and shelter. We cannot think of our existence without trees. They are a great source of our food, vitamins, and furniture.

Salman: But do you notice that many unscrupulous people are cutting down trees at random? What might be its consequence?

Hasib: If they cut down trees indiscriminately, the country will one day turn into a desert. The temperature will rise and it will cause greenhouse effect.

Salman: I think this would not be harmful if people planted more trees after cutting trees. But they seem to be very indifferent to planting trees.

Hasib: You are right. To save life and maintain the ecological balance of the environment, there is no alternative to tree plantation.

Salman: Now I understand why tree plantation is so important. I think people of all walks of life should come forward to make tree plantation programme a success.

Hasib: Absolutely, let us make aware our friends and motivate them to plant trees more and more to make our country a land of greenery.

CONVERSATION- 8

A dialouge between two friends About environment pollution

Nilesh : Hello Suresh. How are you?

Suresh : Thanks. I am fine. How are you?

Nilesh : I am also fine. Where are you going?

Suresh : I am going to the mayor for requesting him to take necessary steps against environment pollution.

Nilesh : Environment pollution has become a great problem in our life.

Suresh : You are right. Though environment helps us to exist, we don't bother about it. We are polluting it indiscriminately.

Nilesh : People are not aware of it. They throw their waste here and there.

Suresh : Mills and factories are polluting the environment through their toxic chemicals.

Nilesh : Too much vehicles are polluting the air by smoke and fumes.

Suresh : Super tankers and human wastes are responsible for water pollution.

Nilesh : Farmers use fertilizers and pesticides for more production. But these chemicals get mixed with pond and river water.

Suresh : Every day we use million tons of fuel for cooking and other purposes. These are also responsible for pollution.

Nilesh : But we cannot live without cooking food.

Suresh : You are right. But we should be conscious of it. In most cases, we are not aware of the importance of environment.

Nilesh : So, what should we do?

Suresh : We should take care of our environment. It's true that we cannot stop pollution for good. But we can lessen it.

Nilesh : I agree with you. My friend, I have to go now. Ok, see you later.

Suresh : Bye.

CONVERSATION- 9

A Short Conversation between Two Friends

Sapna : Hello, Shashi. How are you? It's been a long time since we last met.

Shashi : Oh! Hi, Sapna. I have got a new job now and doing great. How about you?

Sapna : Not too bad.

Shashi: How often do you eat at this cafe?

Sapna : This is my first time. My friends kept telling me the food was great. So, I decided to try it tonight. What have you been up to?

Shashi: I have been so busy with my new job that I have not had the time to do much else but otherwise, me and the family are all fine.

Sapna : Well, I hope you and your family have a lovely meal.

Shashi : Yes, you too.

CONVERSATION- 10

A dialogue between you and your friend about your hobby.

Myself : Hello, how are you?

My friend : Fine, by the grace of God. And you?

Myself : I am also fine. Let's play cricket.

My friend : Sorry, I have to go home.

Myself : Why?

My friend : I have a hobby and it is gardening. And I work there in the afternoon.

Myself : Where is your garden?

My friend : In front of my reading room.

Myself : How do you pursue your hobby.

My friend : I plant the seedlings and take care of them regularly. I water them and weed them regularly. I grow flowers and vegetables in my garden. Vegetables are very useful for our health and the flowers are very beautiful. When the flowers bloom, the garden looks very beautiful. The flowers charm and amuse me with their sweet scent and beauty.

Myself : I think your hobby is very interesting.

My friend : What about your hobby?

Myself : My hobby is to play cricket with my friends. In every afternoon I play with my friends. And I keep my body fit by playing cricket. And my mind also remains sound as it lives in a sound body.

My friend : Your hobby is also very interesting.

Myself : Ok. Thanks I have to go now.

My friend : Ok. Bye, see you next time.

CONVERSATION- 11

Conversation while buying shoes

Salesman: Sir, how may I help you?

Customer: I'm looking for a pair of leather shoes.

Salesman: What size do you wear?

Customer: Seven.

Salesman: Seven for which brand?

Customer: Does the same size mean different thing for different brands? It should be standard across all brands, right?

Salesman: For few brands, the same size can mean slightly different fitting.

Customer: Is it? I thought otherwise. Anyway, I wear size seven of Hush Puppies, and because I want to buy the same brand it shouldn't be a problem.

Salesman: Yes, it won't be a problem in your case. This section has new arrivals and this has shoes on sale.

(The customer first glances through the shoes on sale.)

Customer: The variety is far less here. Because I'm buying shoes for at least few years, I would like to buy something I like. I'll prefer new arrivals.

Salesman: Most of the shoes on sale were picked up by customers within a day of opening of the sale. That's why you find far less variety there.

Salesman: Why don't you try these ones?

Customer: Not these ones. I'm looking for more formal look, the ones with laces and predominantly plain texture.

Customer: I like this one. Lemme try it.

(The customer puts on the pair and walks few yards.)

Customer: This fit well. I'll take this one in black. Size seven.

Salesman: Would you like to see socks and shoe polish as well?

Customer: Not polish, but yes socks.

(The customer then walks to the shelves, next to the billing counter, which held shoe accessories.)

Customer: Do you sell socks only in combo of three?

Salesman: We sell by pair as well. Here they are.

Customer: OK. I'll take these two pairs.

Salesman: Anything else, sir?

Customer: No, thanks.

Salesman: I'll get the billing done, then.

Customer: Sure.

CONVERSATION- 12

Conversation while buying clothes

Salesman: Sir, how may I help you?

Customer: I'm looking for formal & casual shirts and trousers.

Salesman: You can find shirt for casual wear on that side. Formal wear though is on the first floor.

Customer: All right, I'll start with formal wear.

(The customer and the salesman move to the formal wear section on the first floor.)

Salesman: What size shirt do you wear?

Customer: I wear 39".

Salesman: You'll find 39" shirts on these shelves.

Customer: Can you take out this, this, this and this one? I want the ones without cufflinks.

Salesman: None of these are with cufflinks.

(The salesman takes the four shirts out and unpacks them on the waist-high table between him and the customer.)

Customer: I like the plain, light shades in pink and blue.

Salesman: These are nice shirts. They would go well with dark trousers, especially those in shades of blue and black. You can take a look at trousers as well before you try all of them together.

(They then proceed to trousers section on the same floor.)

Customer: Can you show me trousers in 32" waist size?

Salesman: These shelves are 32".

Customer: Can you take this and this out?

(The salesman takes the two trousers out and spreads them on the table. The customer spends few minutes feeling them and then selects one.)

Customer: Where is the trial room?

Salesman: That side.

(The customer tries the shirts and the trousers and comes back.)

Customer: I'll take the two shirts and the blue trousers.

Salesman: OK sir. We can now move to the ground floor for the casual shirt.

(They come down to the ground floor and move to the section for casual shirts.)

Customer: Show me the new arrivals.

Salesman: You'll like this. When you roll your sleeves up with this shirt on, the cloth underneath provides a contrasting color and pattern.

Customer: I like this one. Lemme try this one out.

(The customer tries the casual shirt and comes back.)

Customer: OK. Please pack this one as well. Now, I've two formal shirts, one trousers, and one casual shirt.

Salesman: Would you want to see tie, belt, or shoes?

Customer: Not now. Thanks.

Salesman: No problem, sir. Our tailor can take the measurement for the length of your trousers and would stitch the bottom accordingly. In the meantime, I'll get your bill ready.

Customer: When can I collect the trousers?

Salesman: In two hours.

Customer: OK.

CONVERSATION- 13

Conversation while buying grocery

Customer: I want two liters of double-toned milk, a dozen eggs, a liter of soybean cooking oil, one pouch of butter milk, two kilogram of toor dal, three flavored yogurt, and a kilogram of raw groundnut.

(After the shop assistant has collected the items from different shelves in the store, the shopkeeper prepares the bill.)

Customer: How much is it for?

Shopkeeper: Rupees 555/-

Customer: How much are you charging for the eggs?

Shopkeeper: Rupees 55/- a dozen.

Customer: That's more than what you charged the last time.

Shopkeeper: Rates have gone up in the last week.

Customer: OK. Give me some discount as I'm buying quite a few items.

Shopkeeper: We hardly make any margins on these items.

Customer: I know how much you make.

Shopkeeper: OK, give me rupees 530/-

Customer: Don't put the items in polythene carry bags. Kindly use this jute bag.

CONVERSATION- 14

Conversation while negotiating high price of items

Customer: How much are bananas for?

Shopkeeper: Rupees 60/- a dozen.

Customer: That's exorbitant. And tomatoes and papaya?

Shopkeeper: Rupees 50/- a kg for tomatoes and rupees 60 a kg for papaya.

Customer: Your prices are so high. Last week, I bought these items for a better price.

Shopkeeper: Madam, what I've quoted is current market rate. Prices have gone up this week because of less supply coming to the wholesale market.

Customer: But then how come the other shopkeeper is offering better price.

Shopkeeper: That's because he often mixes yesterday's stock with the new. We sell only fresh vegetables and fruits.

Customer: I know how much fresh you sell. All say the same thing. But you got to offer me some discount as I'll buy stuff worth at least 300.

Shopkeeper: I'll try my best. What else do you want me to weigh?

(The customer goes on to mention more vegetables and fruits and the shopkeeper weighs them and stuffs them in the customer's bag.)

Customer: So the total is 380. I think you should charge 340.

Shopkeeper: No, that's too low. Give me 360.

Customer: The discount of rupees 20/- is just 5 percent off. Not much. Give me at least 10 percent.

Shopkeeper: Sorry madam, if I offer such discount I'll hardly make anything for myself. I also have to run my household. 360 is my last offer.

Customer: OK, but I'm not happy.

Shopkeeper: Madam, you should think of our livelihood as well.

CONVERSATION- 15

Conversation about fever and sore throat

Patient: Good evening doctor.

Doctor: Good evening. You look pale and your voice is out of tune.

Patient: Yes doctor. I'm running a temperature and have a sore throat.

Doctor: Lemme see.

(He touches the forehead to feel the temperature.)

Doctor: You've moderate fever.

(He then whips out a thermometer.)

Patient: This thermometer is very different from the one you used the last time. (Unlike the earlier one which was placed below the tongue, this one snapped around one of the fingers.)

Doctor: Yes, this is a new introduction by medical equipment companies. It's much more convenient, as it doesn't require cleaning after every use.

Patient: That's awesome.

Doctor: Yes, it is.

(He removes the thermometer and looks at the reading.)

Doctor: Not too high – 99.8.

(He then proceeds with measuring blood pressure.)

Doctor: Your blood pressure is fine.

(He then checks the throat.)

Doctor: It looks bit scruffy. Not good.

Patient: Yes, it has been quite bad.

Doctor: Do you get sweating and shivering?

Patient: Not sweating, but I feel somewhat cold when I sit under a fan.

Doctor: OK. You've few symptoms of malaria. I would suggest you undergo blood test. Nothing to worry about. In most cases, the test come out to be negative. It's just precautionary, as there have been spurt in malaria cases in the last month or so.

(He then proceeds to write the prescription.)

Doctor: I'm prescribing three medicines and a syrup. The number of dots in front of each tells you how many times in the day you've to take them. For example, the two dots here mean you've to take the medicine twice in the day, once in the morning and once after dinner.

Doctor: Do you've any other questions?

Patient: No, doctor. Thank you.

CONVERSATION- 16

Conversation about headache

Patient: Doctor, I've headache since yesterday evening.

Doctor: Have you taken any medicine so far?

Patient: Paracetamol, but the headache hasn't disappeared.

Doctor: You've a running nose. Looks like your headache is a result of sinus infection, and not the regular one that results from anxiety and fatigue. Lemme check.

(The doctor checks the patient thoroughly.)

Doctor: It's quite clear that the infection in your sinus is the reason for your headache. I'll prescribe an antibiotic to clear the infection and a pain reliever to relieve the pain.

Patient: Thank you, doctor.

CONVERSATION- 17

Conversation about stomach ache

Patient: I've stomach ache and loose motions since last night. I also vomited few times in the night.

Doctor: What did you eat yesterday?

Patient: I ate some snacks on the roadside eatery. It's likely a result of that.

Doctor: Likely you ate contaminated food. Because of diarrhea, you've lost plenty of body fluids. You need to be hydrated. Drink water regularly. Mix some Glucon-D powder or Electral in it. Fruit juice is fine too. Avoid caffeine, dairy products, and solid foods at least till evening. And get plenty of rest.

Patient: Any medicines, doctor.

Doctor: Yes, I'm prescribing few to control diarrhea.

Patient: Thank you, doctor.

CONVERSATION- 18

Conversation with an oncologist on cancer

In this conversation, the patient's family member (attendant) talks to the doctor.

Doctor: So, what brings you here?

Attendant: Doctor, my father has been diagnosed with abnormal growth of cells in colon, which doctors so far have confirmed as a case of cancer.

Doctor: What tests have you conducted?

Attendant: On the advice of doctors in Lucknow, we conducted blood tests, CT scan, and biopsy. We've taken three opinions on the reports and all have opined colorectal cancer. Here are the reports.

(The doctor goes through the reports.)

Doctor: Yes, this looks cancerous. What we'll do is admit him today itself and get few tests done. And let's meet tomorrow morning when you've the reports of these tests.

Attendant: OK. Thank you.

(The doctor writes his observations on his letterhead and hands it over to the attendant. The attendant then gets the patient admitted and visits the doctor again the next morning with new reports in hand.)

Doctor: The cancer is just one stage before it'll spread to other parts. In this case, the best course of action is immediate surgery to remove the affected part followed by radiation therapy.

Attendant: How many days of hospitalization will be required?

Doctor: We can perform the surgery day after tomorrow. Thereafter, we'll keep the patient under observation for 4-5 days. Radiation therapy has become pretty standardized and therefore you can get it done in any tier-2 city, which will not only be convenient to you but also reduce your expense.

Attendant: And for how long the patient will have to undergo radiation therapy?

Doctor: One dose every two weeks for three months. You need to visit the hospital only on days you receive therapy. Once radiation therapy is done, you should consult an oncologist every three months in the beginning and every year later on to check for remission of cancerous cells.

Attendant: OK. I've heard radiation therapy has side effects.

Doctor: Yes, radiation therapy has side effects. It can lead to hair loss, nausea, and loss of appetite.

Attendant: Thank you doctor. We'll get him admitted today.

CONVERSATION- 19

Conversation with an eye specialist in a hospital

This conversation involves not just the doctor, but also people conducting different tests and those at reception and billing desks in the hospital.

Support: Good Morning sir. How may I help you?

Patient: Good morning. I had an appointment with the doctor at 9 AM.

Support: Have you registered with us earlier?

Patient: Yes.

Support: Please show me your registration card. Or I can search for your details through your mobile number.

Patient: That would be better. My mobile number is 989930xxx.

(She searches for the patient's past records on her computer.)

Support: OK, I've found your details. You last visited us in August 2021.

Patient: That's right.

Support: You can pay the doctor consultation fee here.

Patient: Sure. Here is my card.

(She swipes the card and hands over the invoice to the patient.)

Support: Pl take a seat, and feel free to help yourself with water, newspapers etc.

Patient: Thank you.

(After 15-odd minutes, the attendant calls the patient's name, following which the patient proceeds to the doctor's cabin.)

Patient: Good morning doctor.

Doctor: Good morning. How're you doing today?

Patient: I'm fine. Thank you. How about you?

Doctor: I'm good. So, what brings you here?

Patient: I've come for a regular checkup for a suspected case of glaucoma. I don't have it, but few years back a doctor after examining my eye and knowing my family eye history advised me to undergo precautionary checkup once a year.

(He puts the past reports on the table. The doctor peruses them.)

Doctor: I see that your optic nerve is thicker than the normal. That's probably the reason why you were asked to undergo precautionary tests every year. You can have the same two tests – visual field analysis and OCT – today and once you've the two reports, we can meet again in the afternoon.

Patient: Alright.

(The doctor scribbles the names of the two tests on his letterhead and pushes it across the table.)

Patient: Thank you, doctor.

(The patient leaves the doctor's cabin and again approaches the reception desk.)

Patient: I saw the doctor. He has asked for these two tests.

(He pushes the prescription towards the billing lady.)

Support: OK. The two tests will cost you xxx and you'll get the reports in around two hours. Is that fine?

Patient: That's fine.

(He slips his card toward her. She swipes it again and hands over the invoice a second time.)

Support: Please be seated there. Someone will call you for the first test in few minutes.

Patient: Thank you.

(Over the next two hours, he undergoes the two tests and receives the reports. Thereafter, he meets the doctor again, this time with reports.)

Doctor: I hope you had a smooth experience going through those tests.

Patient: Yes, it was. And because I've taken these tests in the past too, I knew what was coming.

(The patient pushes the reports toward the doctor. The doctor pores through the pages, looking at the colored images of the eye minutely.)

Doctor: Your reports are absolutely fine. Since these reports haven't shown anything suspect in so many years, I think you can now take these tests once in two years, and not once a year.

Patient: OK.

Doctor: Well, that puts glaucoma thing to rest. Does your work involve working on laptop for long hours?

Patient: Yes.

Doctor: In case your eyes get tired quickly, I would recommend xxx. It's an eye drop, which you can use 2-3 times in the day. Our eyes get dry when we look at the computer screen without blinking for long, a common reason for tiredness in eyes. This eye drop will lubricate your eyes.

Doctor: Do you've any other questions?

Patient: Yes. I see few thin, black, wavy structures floating in front of my eyes and they don't disappear even when I close my eyes. What are they? Are they harmful?

Doctor: They're called floaters, and most persons develop them to different extent as they age. They're not harmful.

Patient: Thank you doctor. Thanks for your time.

Doctor: You're welcome.

CONVERSATION- 20

A dialogue between two friends

Arnav: Hey, look Farhan! Someone ran over that dog!

Farhan: Where's the driver? Did he pull over?

A: I don't think so. I think he took off.

F: Arnav, I'm going to run across the street and find out if the dog is alive.

A: How is he, Farhan? Watch out! He might bite you.

F: I think his leg is broken. Look there's a police car! Run and catch up with him, Arnav. I'll stay with the dog. That's a good boy lie still. (The dog whimpers.)

A: The cop took off before I could get there.

F: Let's try to get on that bus!

A: with the dog?

F: Of course! We can get off at Pine near Walnut. There's an animal hospital there!

A: I'll run ahead and ask the bus driver to wait for you. You certainly can't keep up with me if you carry the dog.

F: Good idea! We can hang around while the doctor fixes his leg, and then well try to find the owner.

A: Okay. Let's go!

CONVERSATION- 21

A dialogue between an employer and employee

Sir: Chand come her.

Servant: Yes sir.

Sir: What are you doing?

Servant: Sir, I am cooking food.

Sir: Hurry up! I am getting late to my office.

Servant: Sir wait a little But....

Sir: Yes, yes tell me don't hesitate.

Servant: I needed leave for 5-6 days.

Sir: 5-6 days leave! Why What piece of work do you have?

Servant: Sir, I have to go to my village.

Sir: But who will work here?

Servant: My wife will work.

Sir: Alright but why for are you going?

Servant: My mother is not well. I will take a few patent medicines from here.

Sir: O.K. you may go.

Servant: Will you be kind enough to give me some advance?

Sir: You may take your salary of this month in advance.

Servant: So nice of you sir. I will go this evening.

CONVERSATION- 22

A dialogue between a house-wife and a hawker

House-wife: Excuse me.

Hawker: Yes, please. Can I help you?

W: I'd like to buy vegetables. Do you have onions?

H: Here they are. How much?

W: How much per kg?

H: They are Rs. 20/kg?

W: Gosh. Very expensive. Yesterday I bought them Rs. 16/kg.

H: You are right. I also sold them at the same rate yesterday. But today, the rate is very high at the market.

W: What about cabbage? How much is it?

H: It is Rs. 10/kg. It is quite fresh.

W: Everything is very expensive.

H: What is cheaper now-a-days?

W: It is very hard for a poor-man to survive.

H: All the day we move in street and in the evening hardly we make Rs. 100 or 150.

W: O.K. Please give me 1 kg onion and 1/2 kg cabbage. Coriander leaves for one rupee.

H: Here you are.

W: How much?

H: It's Rs. 26.

W: Here's the money.

H: Thank you.

SUCCESS DARPPAN

CONVERSATION- 23

A dialogue between wife and husband

Wife: Why are you so harsh to these kiddies?

Husband: Oh!. I'm sorry. But why do you put on a long face?

What's the matter with you? Why making faces like this?

W: Oh, do you ever regard my wishes?

H: What have I done, dear?

W: Why do you deprive us of your company?

What gives you the right to be away from home?

H: Oh, I see, I'm sorry. Now, I won't my darling.

Let's go to the picture this evening, won't you, my sweetest?

W: Oh, how good you are!

CONVERSATION- 24

A dialogue between two friends regarding a visit to a London

Asad: Hello, Qamar! I haven't seen you for ages.

Qamar: Been out of the country for a few months.

Asad: Really? Where, to the gulf?

Qamar: No. My wife and I have to the UK to see our grandson.

Asad: I'm sure you've had a very enjoyable time. How long were you there?

Qamar: Exactly six months.

Asad: Where in the UK were you?

Qamar: We were in London.

Asad: Which part of London?

Qamar: East Ham.

Asad: Oh, East Ham. I've some friends there.

Qamar: Yes, there are a lot of Indians at East Ham.

Asad: You know our Zahid. His sister and family are there.

Qamar: Yes, I once met them on the underground.

Asad: Underground?

Qamar: Yes, you call it London underground or tube. You can travel all over London by the underground trains.

Asad: Oh, I see. I hear transport is expensive there.

Qamar: Yes, it is, especially taxis.

Asad: Was it easy to get a visa to the UK? I hear it isn't so easy.

Qamar: Well, it wasn't very difficult for us.

Asad: Where did you get it from? Mumbai?

Qamar: No, from the British High Commission in New Delhi.

Asad: Was it a long process?

Qamar: Yes and no. First, you've to get a sponsor's letter from London. Then you should be in possession of a round trip air ticket. Our son sent them to us. He sent a pre-paid ticket advice to the airlines and the ticket was issued to us. Besides the passports, sponsor's letter and the air tickets, we had to produce some documents to show that we have some assets here and also close relatives.

Asad: What's that for?

Qamar: That's to convince the British authorities that we are definitely coming back. They would make sure that we didn't intend to look for a job or settle there once we reached there.

Asad: Em...I'm sure they must have asked you quite a lot of questions at the high Commission's office.

Qamar: Oh, yes, they did. And once you get the visa stamped in your passport, it's valid for six months.

Asad: You mean you have to use it within six months.

Qamar: Exactly. On landing at Heathrow Airport you are given a six months' visa from the date of entry.

Asad: You had to pay for the visa.

Qamar: Certainly. You make the payment in rupees before obtaining it. The amount depends on the duration of your stay.

Asad: How much did you pay for six months?

Qamar: We had to pay Rs.70000@Rs.40000 for each of us.

Asad: Did you board from New Delhi?

Qamar: No, we embarked from Mumbai.

Asad: Was it a direct flight?

Qamar: No, we flew via Muscat and Bahrain. There are direct flights but they are more expensive.

Asad: Did you have to spend a lot of time in transit in Muscat and Bahrain?

Qamar: Not much. Though we landed in Muscat, we didn't need to change the plane and the same plane took us to Bahrain.

Asad: Did you need to change the plane Bahrain?

Qamar: Yes, we had to. We spend about two hours at the airport.

Asad: Which airways did you fly by?

Qamar: Qatar Airways.

Asad: How was the flight and service?

Qamar: Fantastic! Though it was a long flight, the food and service made every minute of the flight enjoyable. The cuisine was excellent. Soft drinks and food were served free. Most of the time the passengers were eating and drinking and watching video film.

Asad: How long did you take to reach London?

Qamar: We took off from Mumbai at 8 a.m. IST and landed in London at 5.45 p.m. London time on the same day.

Asad: How many hours behind in London time?

Qamar: It is five & half hours behind Indian Standard Time. I think the flying time was around 14 hours and the remaining time was spent at Muscat and Bahrain airports.

Asad: Was your son at the airport to receive you?

Qamar: Yes, my son and daughter-in-law were there.

Asad: Have you ever been to London before?

Qamar: No, that was the first time.

Asad: What's your impression about English people?

Qamar: They are very reserved. They mind their own business and are not at all nosey. London is a beautiful place, unique for its architectural beauty. It is not a city of sky-scrappers. There are very tall buildings in the city but mostly it is a city of two, three or four storeyed buildings and all buildings in a street are similar in certain respects. That's its specialty.

Asad: I thought it was a city of tall buildings and a maze of flyovers like some of those in the States.

Qamar: Not at all. Most of the streets in residential areas are lined with houses of same plan on both sides. They are painted alike and look like iced cakes displayed in a bakery. Cars of infinite variety and shades parked in straight lines on either side of the road add luster to the sight.

Asad: How are the roads and pavements?

Qamar: The roads are very wide with dividers, median lines and all sorts of road signs well displayed. Zebra crossings, bus stops and other areas are marked in appropriate colors. Absence of pot-holes is a specialty. Pavements are asphalted or paved with concrete slabs.

Asad: How nice! I wish our roads would be like them one day. What about the cleanliness of the roads?

Qamar: Their civic sense is very high. Everywhere on the road you can find litter bins and all waste materials are thrown into them. But in some areas the roads are not very clean.

Asad: How is the garbage from houses disposed of?

Qamar: Every house is supplied with a plastic garbage can with casters fixed at the bottom. Once a week the garbage is collected by the Council van. The can is wheeled on to the pavement in front of the gate and left there by the residents. When the can is hooked to the truck by the workers, it is raised and the rubbish is tipped inside. The garbage is collected without fail on a particular day.

Asad: I wish our municipalities would emulate this system.

Qamar: Why blame only the authorities? We are only good at blaming each other.

Asad: We'll take ages to reach that high level of civic sense.

Qamar: One other thing is that all pavements slope down to the road at road junctions and strategic points so that the trolleys, prams, push chairs and auto-chairs on the pavement can move across the roads very easily. You can carry your baby all over the city in a pram, pushing it along. Old people drive auto-chairs along the pavement at walking speed. All the shops are at pavement level and you can drive your auto-chair into a shop, do your shopping and come out. Using an auto-chair, very old people and invalids go about without from others. Very old people who can walk make use of trolleys. They put all their purchases in the trolley and pull or push it along. They don't have to carry any weight.

Asad: How wonderful!

Qamar: Another unique thing I've noticed is that people from into a queue at all counters, at the post office, bank, shop and the queue and make hubbub.

Asad: I think it is the attitude of people of others, life and situations that tend to make them behave in a particular way. I wish I could visit London once. Well, I'm afraid it's getting late, and I have a long way to go.

Qamar: Yes, I'd better be going, too. Bye.

CONVERSATION- 25

A dialogue between two friends regarding a visit to a zoo

Jatin: Good morning, Rahul.

Rahul: Good morning, Jatin.

J: Where are you going today?

R: I am going to visit the zoo with my father.

J: I have seen all the zoological parks in our country.

R: You have seen really many zoological parks.

J: Is it your first visit to a zoological park?

R: No. Before this I have visited another zoo. Can you tell me which zoo you like the most?

J: Yes. I like the Nandan Kanan Zoo most of all, because it is really a big zoo.

R: Can you tell me? How did you go to the zoo?

J: I went by bus with my family.

R: Where is the Nandan Zoo situated?

J: It is situated near the Crossing on the ST Mall near Alvarini Hotel.

R: Is there a great rush of visitors at the zoo?

J: There is always a great rush of visitors of visitors who come to visit the zoo.

R: Is there any entry fee?

J: Yes. You have to purchase the entry tickets after which you can enter the zoo.

R: I think I shall enjoy my visit to the zoo.

J: Of course. There are beautiful parks and pools you will be thrilled to see beautiful birds and animals.

R: Can you name some birds which we may find there?

J: Yes, you will see many birds like ducks, pigeons, parrots, sparrows and many other birds which you have never seen before.

R: Can you tell me something about the animals?

J: By all means. You will see stags, deers, Neelgai, rhinos, lions, tigers, leopards, monkeys, elephants etc.

R: Thank you so much Jatin. I shall really enjoy myself when I go to the zoo today.

J: Never mind please.

CONVERSATION- 26

A dialogue between two friends about catch fish

Aqib: Hamid, tomorrow I'm coming to your house to see how you catch fish. Where do you live?

Hamid: I live very near the seashore. you come by No. 5 Bus and get down at the terminus. I'll wait for you there.

Aqib: I'll be arriving by the first bus. please wait for me at the bus stop. Will you be catching fish tomorrow?

Hamid: Yes, because the weather is favorable. The sea is calm now.

Aqib: How do you catch fish?

Hamid: My father has bought a big nylon net.

Aqib: Is it very expensive?

Hamid: Yes, it cost about Rs. 5000.

Aqib: Oh, that's too much money. How many people do you require to catch fish with that net?

Hamid: At least six.

Aqib: What do they do?

Hamid: One end of the net is held by the people on the shore. Then two people carry the net and go into the water casting the net in a semi-circle and get back to the shore.

Aqib: How far into the sea do they go?

Hamid: They go into about shoulder deep water. The floats can be seen on the surface of the water in a semi-circle. The weights rest on the sand leaving the net in an almost vertical Position.

Aqib: Once the net is cast, I think it is pulled to the shore.

Hamid: That's tough job and for that more people are required, at least three people on either side

Aqib: So all the fish within that semi-circle will be caught in the net.

Hamid: Yes. Sometimes we catch a lot of fish. At other times it may be disappointing.

Aqib: What do you do with all your catch?

Hamid: We divide the catch into seven shares, six people and the seventh is for the owner of the net. If we joint them in catching fish, we get two shares.

Aqib: If they take the net and catch fish, they bring one share for you.

Hamid: That's right.

Aqib: What do you when you have an abundance of fish?

Hamid: It is sold in the market. The amount received also is divided in the same way.

Aqib: The owner of the net gets a share.

Hamid: Yes, so that the money spent on buying the net is made up.

Aqib: Will you be able to get it back in year?

Hamid: May not be in a year, but certainly in two years' time.

Aqib: That's not bad. Everybody gets fish and also some money.

Anyway, I can see it tomorrow. I have been catching fish with a fishing rod and line. Don't you ever do that?

Hamid: Some of my friends who have no net catch fish with a rod. They go to the rock near the shore and catch fish.

Aqib: But then you need a lot of luck to get a fish. You Put the bait on the hook and have to wait for the fish to swallow it, don't you?

Hamid: They know the Places where there are a lot of fish. The only problem is that you have to patiently sit hours together with a rod.

Aqib: Yes, but then angling is a hobby and time passes quickly when you get a fish once in a way. I wish my house were near the seashore.

Hamid: If you like catching fish, at least during the holidays you can come to the seashore with a rod and a line. It is not difficult to make one, if you can't buy one. I can also join you once in a way.

Aqib: Any way let me join you tomorrow. So, make sure you are at the bus stop at 6.a.m.

Hamid: Don't worry about that. I'll be there, but don't oversleep and miss the first bus. See you tomorrow.

Aqib: Bye.

CONVERSATION- 27

A dialogue between two friends about importance of sanitation and hygiene

Sachin: Hello, good evening.

Hardik: Good evening, Sachin. How are you?

S: Very fine. Thank you and how are you?

H: Not too bad. But I'm a little upset.

S: Why, what's worrying you?

H: I'm coming from the bakery. I was very annoyed with the salesman there. I wanted some mixture and the fellow put his hand into the jar and started taking it out with his bare hand.

S: The other day I had the same experience at another bakery. Then I had to give him a piece of my mind. I wonder why in the bakery and in such places, food is not taken with a big spoon.

H: The problem is that they are used to doing things like that. They don't know that their hands are or could be dirty. Most customers don't complain and don't even know how unhygienic it is to use hands to take food.

S: People like us should tell them to use a spoon instead of their hands.

H: What about the health inspectors? Don't they see such things when they go to a bakery?

S: These health inspectors should also insist on the waiters using a pair of tongs to take at snack-bars or delicatessens.

H: One is filled with nausea at the sight of somebody serving you food with his hand. It is high time people were enlightened on such matters.

S: We have progressed in fashion and risen to affluence but not in matters of sanitation and hygiene.

H: Even in star hotels you wouldn't dare to go to the kitchen, would you? In ordinary hotels you well seek cooks and workers, all bare bodies with hair in the armpit and all over, wrapped below the waist with just a towel and sweat streaming down their faces and bodies.

S: That's the dress of some waiters in some of our hotels when they serve food. It is the health inspectors' responsibility to see that waiters are properly dressed.

H: Have you ever bought some tablets or capsules from a pharmacy? Invariably they are counted with bare hands. Don't they know that hands sweat? What they should they is to put them in a plastic plate or something like that and count with a plastic spoon or spatula.

S: I always tell them not to count with their hands. At first, they look at me as if I am a man from the moon. But I don't Care and insist on their doing it. Naturally they start counting them with a spoon.

H: there is no harm in others understanding what is right and what is wrong. haven't you seen people wrapping bread and other snacks in old newspaper? Do they think these old papers are neat and clean?

S: Imagine how many people might have used them? They might have been left in all kinds of dirty places before they are used as wrappers.

H: It doesn't matter if they are used to wrap food items that are going to be cooked. Just because we take a bath every morning and wear clean clothes, we are not hygienic. Are we?

S: In hotels I have seen even decently dressed people throwing bones and other things on the table or on the floor under the table. The place starts stinking in no time. Can't they be supplied with bone plates on every table and made to use them?

H: Spitting in public places is another health hazard. Some people chew betel leaves and spit all over and even from moving vehicles.

S: No amount of laws can stop all this. The best thing to do is to start teaching children in primary schools how to be hygienic. We should develop in our little ones a high sense of hygiene and sanitation. Hygiene should become a habit with people.

H: I wonder when the educationalists and politicians in power will realize the importance of all these things. But they are more interested in other things. But they are more interested in other things. Writing letters to the editors of newspaper only invites counter arguments. That is my experience.

S: You can't blame the authorities for not taking proper action against the culprits. People should help themselves. These norms can't be imposed on others, they should be imbibed.

H: That reminds me of something I have always had in my mind, Sachin, when somebody is seriously ill, we call an ambulance, don't we? What happens when someone dies? The same ambulance is used to carry the dead body. Is that fair?

S: You are right. People die of various diseases. Even if the ambulance is disinfected, the sick person shudders to think that only the previous day a dead person has been taken in the same stretcher. Why can't hearse be kept to carry the dead?

H: Though it will be expensive, it can't be avoided. It is something indispensable. The municipal authorities should find the money to provide a hearse to the public.

S: Let's hope it will be done in due course. Good night.

H: Good night.

SUCCESS DARPAN

CONVERSATION- 28

A dialogue between two friends about wealth and health

Ishan: Let's solve a puzzle.

Sahil: Health is necessary for us or wealth?

I: Health!

S: Why?

I: Every healthy person can earn wealth.

S: No, wealth is a gift of God. It can't be attained by struggle. The system of the world is maintained by it. For example, you cannot travel without money. You cannot take proper food without it. Even death needs money. You cannot bury your dead without the blessing of wealth.

I: Yes, you are right but health is a blessing of God. Everybody in this materialistic world has a great wish to get wealth. But it is due to good health. The rich become victim of many diseases like unfitness and diabetic etc. But healthy man keeps his body fit. A moving body remains warm and healthy. The rich do not like to go out without vehicle. This laziness makes the man idle. Idle nations have been ruined in the world like Mughal Kingdom etc. The rich give importance to wealth instead of health.

S: Have you ever heard a healthy man singing?

I: Yes.

S: Which thing has made him sing?

I: Happiness.

S: Which thing has made him happy?

I: It is due to health.

S: We all should pray to God first for health and then for wealth.

SUCCESS DARPPAN

CONVERSATION- 29

A dialogue between two friends about journalists

Yashasavi: For how long have you been in the profession of journalism?

Omar: Some five, six years.

Y: I thought you were inexperienced.

O: Five, six-year experience means nothing, so, in a way, I am new.

Y: Whatever you are, but you are far more experienced than me.

O: Yes, you can say. What about your experience?

Y: (Laughing) nothing like experience. I joined this field some months ago.

O: Doesn't matter. Everyone is inexperienced in the start.

Y: Yes, it is true, but even then, sometimes, you feel frustrated.

O: Yes, it is part of the game.

Y: You know, in the early stages, one gets almost nothing, but there is a hell of work.

O: (Consoling) don't you worry. Things will turn O.K.

Y: I am afraid, I will quit this job.

O: No, no, not even think like this.

Y: Are you satisfied with this job.

O: I am not satisfied, but I am not dissatisfied.

Y: What do you mean? isn't it paltering?

O: Actually, the thing is, one has to compromise with the circumstances.

Y: How can one? when everybody goes on snubbing you.

O: I do understand you, but with the passage of time one becomes used to.

Y: Thanks for encouraging me a bit.

O: No, no, it's just O.K. I can help you practically too.

Y: You are really great.

O: It's not so.

CONVERSATION- 30

A dialogue between two friends about love

Abhishek: How do you take love?

Bharat: It's just nonsense.

A: Do you mean it?

B: No, I was just joking.

A: I thought you were serious.

B: No, not at all.

A: Have you ever fallen in love?

B: It is very difficult to say, whether it was love or something else.

A: Whatever it was, do tell something about.

B: Actually, you can call it liking.

A: Who was that unlucky girl?

B: She was a distant relative of mine.

A: Who took the first step?

B: Perhaps she, or perhaps I.

A: Was it a success?

B: Yes, in a way.

A: What happened? Did she get marry?

B: The same old story.

A: It means, she got.

B: Yes, she did.

A: Against her will?

B: I think, it was so.

A: It is really sad.

B: No, no, such things are part of life.

A: What was your feeling at that time?

B: I was shocked for some time.

A: Are you fit now?

B: Yes, absolutely fit.

A: Do you feel sort of pinch?

B: Not in routine, on some special occasions.

A: Yes, it is natural.

B: Yes, certainly it is.

A: Actually, I believe in spiritual love.

B: That's what love is.

CONVERSATION- 31

A dialogue between two friends about glasses

Anjali: Where are my glasses?

Babita: They must be here somewhere.

A: I can't find them.

B: You always keep on looking for you glasses.

A: What should I do then?

B: You must take care of your things.

A: What do you think of me?

B: You are very careless.

A: you are mistaken.

B: I don't displace my things.

A: Why do you have to search the things then?

B: It's just a chance. Where did you put them?

A: I put them here somewhere.

B: Here are your glasses.

CONVERSATION- 32

A dialogue between two friends about immigration

Anurag: Have you ever thought of going abroad.

Binny: Yes, so many times.

A: Have you ever applied?

B: Yes, twice, rather, thrice.

A: But you are still here.

B: Yes, I am unlucky person, I am always rejected.

A: So, that is the story.

B: Yes, a sad one.

A: Why are people so much interested in going abroad?

B: It has social, economic, and God knows what sort of reasons.

B: Have you ever tried?

A: Not so far.

B: There is no harm in applying.

A: Actually, I am not that crazy.

B: But I am very much.

A: Any relatives of yours living abroad?

B: Only distant ones.

B: What about you?

A: I cannot even count.

B: Then, why don't you.....

A: I have told you I have no.....

B: Had I been in your place, I would have left long-long ago.

A: Everyone has his own preferences.

B: Yes, it is so.

A: Almost half of my family is abroad.

B: Really, strange.

A: There is nothing strange in it. It is just the stroke of luck.

B: Won't you call it chance.

A: It is your perception.

B: If I get a chance, I won't ever come back.

A: Where are your patriotic feelings.

B: Everything is dead.

A: One should not be that depressed.

B: Yes, but how?

CONVERSATION- 33

A dialogue between two friends about designate wife

Rishi: Good morning, Karan.

Karan: Morning, Rishi. What brings you here?

Your visits are now few and far between.

Would you have a cup of coffee, please?

R: Yes, I don't mind. But I have come on purpose. Could you help.

K: Yes, with pleasure. My humble services are at your disposal.

R: Let me open my heart to you. You know your neighbour's daughter, don't you?

K: Yes, I'm on very intimate terms with the family. But what's the matter?

R: Well, how about my marrying Sana?

K: Good. Very good. The like of Sana is rare. You cannot but marvel! at her excellences.

R: But she isn't beautiful, is she?

K: Oh no, She is a beauty.

Her smile is one of her beauties. hat lovely hair she has! her silken hair and silken voice can win anybody's heart. She is a cute.

R: But is she too tall for her age?

K: Oh, no. She has a very charming and pleasing personality. She doesn't look her age.

This girl is a smasher.

R: But what is she doing at present?

K: She is doing her B.A. with music. She is a girl with an artistic temperament and has a very sweet temper.

R: Do you think she won't twist her husband around her finger?

K: I'm sure she will be a good wife and you will make an excellent husband.

Thank your lucky stars.

But I must tell you that her family isn't rich enough to offer you a big dowry.

R: But dowry isn't an important consideration with us.

K: Then the sooner you get married the better. May I offer you my congratulations in advance.

R: A million thanks.

CONVERSATION- 34

A dialogue between a girl and friend about designate husband

Zoha: Good morning, Adil.

Adil: Good morning. How are you?

Z: Oh. I'm feeling fine/ I am A one. But who was the young gentleman you were talking?

A: Oh, did you see him? He is a friend of mine. You didn't like him. I am afraid.

Z: Oh, no I did like him.

He is tall and handsome and smart too.

Well, who can help admiring him?

A: He is a man of great abilities.

The boy is a genius. He is a musician too.

He plays the sitar with great delicacy of touch.

He is sober and grave. He isn't a modern Romeo.

Z: Well. I'm not interested in the intimate details of his life.

Why should I be?

A: But I am. He is going to be your father's son-in-law one of these days.

Z: What! I don't get you.

A: Well, he is Imran, your would-be husband, a husband designate.

Congratulations in advance.

Z: Oh, you naughty boy.

CONVERSATION- 35

A dialogue between a wife and husband at a jewellery shop

Wife: Let's go for shopping.

Husband: What do you want to buy?

W: Your clothes are just torn out. I think to buy some clothes for you.

H: This time you buy your golden ear rings. My dresses are well now next time we will buy clothes.

W: The clothes are more essential than ear rings.

H: No not at all this time you have to buy ear rings etc.

W: But have you enough money?

H: Yes, I have Rupees 150000. You can buy whatever you want. Let's go to PC Jewelers.

W: But I have to meet the expenses.

H: For that I have extra money.

W: But from where you got a lot of money?

H: I have won the lottery of Rupees 100,000/-

W: Then why have you not told me before?

H: I will tell you the details later on. See the jewellery shop has come.

W: On reaching the shop.

H: Will you please show us golden ear tops and rings?

Shopkeeper: Oh, yes why not sir, take one which you like.

H: Thank you.

W: How are these?

H: See now carefully. Take whatever you want.

Shopkeeper: Sir, I have the new designs of rings, necklaces and armlets.

H: Pleased show those also.

Shopkeeper: Take these. This new design of coral rings, this diamond nose ring. Besides all these, I have golden hair pins, brooches, tie pins, coat buttons, etc.

W: For you this pearl tie pin will be better.

H: It is indeed looking nice, but how is the coral ring?

W: It is too costly.

H: We like this hair pin, pearl coral ring and this tie pin. Put them aside.

Shopkeeper: Sir, please see this locket of chain it's quite good.

W: No nothing more. It is enough.

H: If you like this you can take don't bother about the money.

W: I have enough lockets.

H: I have enough lockets.

H: Please tell the total amount.

Shopkeeper: Sir, total amount is only Rs. 25000 This is the bill.

H: 25000 rupees?

Shopkeeper: Yes sir.

H: But, you have to less something at least.

W: Take only 20000 rupees.

H: Ofcourse! it's all right.

Shopkeeper: It is not enough.

W: This is enough.

H: This is the money.

Shopkeeper: Thank you sir.

H: It's alright.

SUCCESS DARPAN

CONVERSATION- 36

A dialogue between a customer and a salesman in a shoe shop

Salesman: Please come in. Have a seat please. What kind of shoes do you want?

Customer: Of leather please.

S: in good stuff or in mediocre?

C: In mediocre.

S: Which colour?

C: Brown please.

S: What size is your foot?

C: I'm afraid I don't know.

S: Please put your foot on the size stool. Just hold on you better take off your socks first. Oh blimey! how much they stink. Try this pair.

C: It's a bit loose.

S: I'm afraid. This pattern doesn't come in halves. Please try some other one.

C: It doesn't matter. My papa says I grow an inch every day. They will fit me within two or three weeks. Please pack this pair. How much are they?

S: Rs, 2500.

C: Any discount?

S: Sorry we have fair price and top quality.

C: Thank you.

CONVERSATION- 37

A dialogue between mother and daughter about examination

Mother: I received a progress report of your examination.

Daughter: What is my progress in all subjects?

M: You have failed in science subjects especially physics and chemistry.

D: I know well about myself. I am very weak in physics and chemistry. I solved the Biology and Mathematics papers as well. But I am very sorry, I could not get good marks in physics and chemistry.

M: Your progress in Hindi and Social studies are also not satisfactory and your marks are not more than sixty percent.

D: My all teachers are not in my favor.

M: Do not blame them. They are your teachers. Your teacher Saima is very hardworking and other teachers are very fine. Your report shows that you are very lazy and careless. I shall tell your father about your bad progress in study. What was the reason for your bad marks?

D: I became upset when I read the questions. Because these questions were not studied by me.

M: You should be ashamed of yourself. You have disappointed me.

D: I am sorry, I promise you to study from today. My next progress would be excellent Mom.

M: Promise?

D: Yes, Promise Mom.

M: Thank you. Work hard.

CONVERSATION- 38

A dialogue between mother and son to make an omelet

Mother: Son, I'm happy you have a good job now. When have you got the report of work?

Son: Mum, you should be delighted. Not only a good job, I'll be provided with furnished rent-free quarters. Electricity and water charges will be paid by the company and above all I'll be given a chauffeur-driven car. I know the house is in quite a good neighborhood.

Mother: But son, you don't know anything about cooking and how are you going to survive?

Son: Oh, mother, how do you think all bachelors live? I'll live the same way, if not better. I'll live the same way, If not better. I'll have jam butter, bread, bananas and eggs for breakfast. Mostly I'll be eating lunch outside. Why don't you teach me how to prepare one or two curries? Mum, can you show me how to make an omelet now?

Mother: I'll be glad to. Come, come to the kitchen.

Son: All right, mum.

Mother: Today I'll teach you how to make an omelet and you'll make it for breakfast tomorrow.

Son: Ok, mum.

Mother: Now watch carefully. First the eggs are broken into a bowl. You need only two eggs. They are beaten to a froth with a fork or an egg beater. Then a small onion and half a green chili are cut into small pieces like this. They are added to the beaten egg. If you don't like green chilies, you can use pepper. Don't forget to add a pinch of salt.

Son: Shall I put the fry pan on the stove?

Mother: Yes, put it on the stove and light it.

Son: What next?

Mother: It is hot now. Put a teaspoonful of ghee. That's it.

Son: Now shall I pour it into the pan?

Mother: Yes, pour it. Now when one side is cooked enough, turn it with this spatula to the other side. When both sides are cooked, the omelet is ready.

Son: So simple, mum. It won't take more than five minutes to make an omelet.

Mother: But don't eat too many eggs. I know how much you like them.

Son: No, mother, I'll be careful. when are you going to show me how to make chicken curry?

Mother: I know that's your favorite dish. I'll show you how to cook chicken tomorrow. But it is not so simple as making an omelet. Now that readymade masala is available, it is not difficult either.

Son: Ok, tomorrow. Thank you.

CONVERSATION- 39

A dialogue between two friends after coming back from a party

Bablu: What a strain!

Shashi: Oh, it's good to sit down after all that standing.

B: I could just sit here forever and ever and never get up.

S: I don't think I've ever felt so totally drained in my life. All that embarrassing talk and the drink and the cigarette smoke.

B: And the heat. I didn't sleep very well last night either!

S: We should've gone to bed earlier.

B: But it's funny we should feel so exhausted. After all, we've only been to a party.

S: But what a party. I've never felt so foolish in my life.

B: We must be getting old.

S: I feel if I moved, my bones would break. And the soles of my feet!

B: I haven't felt so washed out for ages.

S: Perhaps there's something wrong with us. There may've been something in the drink.

B: I hope not. The party was bad enough without that.

S: Perhaps everyone at Mahira's is now stretched out on the floor.

B: It won't do, we must pull ourselves together. Come on! One, two, three up! You see at least I can stand on my feet just. Come on Shashi! Activity will make you feel better.

S: Oh, sit down. Don't be so hearty. You don't know how to relax.

B: I'll go and make some sandwiches and coffee. We're probably just hungry, without knowing it.

S: Go and do what you like as long as you leave me in peace.

B: All right. I must make an effort.

S: Solitude at last!

B: Good God!

S: What is it?

B: Don't you know? It's incredible.

S: What?

B: There's a girl with a flowered frock and long hair asleep on the floor in here. She's got a guitar.

S: Go on with you. You must be dreaming.

B: No.. Really.

S: That's all we need. Life is really too much for me. Bye

B: O.K. See you. Bye!